

Living Foundation Ministries

I met Lori Driggs last fall when she came to our counseling office to explore the possibility of using her ministry as a referral for clients who came to us with post abortive issues. I sat spellbound as I listened to her personal story that led to the birth of If Not for GRACE Ministries. I could see from the beginning that Lori is real, that she is compassionate and very serious about giving away what she has learned through her own experience. She directs “Her Choice to Heal” classes and “Reconciliation Weekends” which she offers in various venues throughout the year. What a beautiful role model of using her story to help others (II Corinthians 1:4). Professionally she presented herself with dignity, confidence and purpose. Lori has worked countless hours training volunteers and creating this deeply needed ministry. She exhibits a servant’s heart with longing to help women and men when they find themselves in need of healing from their abortion experience. Lori’s is indeed a story of a real life experience intended for evil, but God meant it for good and many are finding healing because of her story. Those who go through her classes discover that nothing in our lives has to be wasted and everything is redeemable and can serve a valuable purpose all because of GRACE.
